Request for an area variance to construct an accessory structure (pole barn) on land with no primary structure.

Clarkson Town Code § 140-3 Definitions.

The following words or phrases, as used in this chapter, are defined as follows

ACCESSORY STRUCTURE OR ACCESSORY USE

A structure or a portion of a main structure or a use located or carried out on the same premises and incidental and subordinate to the main structure or use which customarily accompanies or is associated with such main use and structure.

J. Diabo gave an explanation of his proposed project. He would like to have a pole barn built on the northwest corner of property that he owns on Roosevelt Highway. The property is used for recreational purposes (hunting, snowmobiling, etc.). The pole barn would be used for storing recreational and gardening equipment (snowmobiles, mowers, tools, etc.). There is currently no primary structure on the property, but he would like to build a house there eventually. He would like to have the house located south of the creek that runs across the property, however, that would require having a bridge built.

P. Dittman explained to the applicant that Town Code prevents building an accessory structure on land with no primary structure. Town Code also prevents building structures in front of a house. There was discussion about possible locations of the house and pole barn. J. Perry stated that there may be flood plain issues due to the creek which could affect possible building locations.

The Board suggested to the applicant that he obtain a site plan which would show details for any future development and address any flood plain issues.
